

JURY DISMISSED AFTER 11 HOURS DELIBERATION

A jury that deliberated for 11 hours was dismissed Tuesday night at 10:05 o'clock after its foreman, Carl W. Kane, Biglerville R. D., told Judge Chauncey M. Deput that it was hopelessly deadlocked.

The jury had heard, Monday and early Tuesday, testimony in the action in trespass brought by Nancy McKenrick, Orrtanna R. D., against Charles Verdier Jr. and Francis Forsythe, Fayetteville R. D.

The suit resulted from an auto accident February 19, 1957, at 4:40 p.m. on Mt. Newman. The McKenrick car was traveling west and started to pass a car driven west by Verdier, whose auto was towing a pickup truck. As Miss McKenrick started to pass, Verdier started to turn and the three vehicles collided. Forsythe was the owner of the vehicle driven by Verdier.

Ask Further Instructions

The jury retired at 11:05 Tuesday morning to begin its deliberations. It returned to the court room early in the afternoon for more instructions. At 6:10 o'clock the jury informed Judge Deput that "we're not any closer to agreement than we were before."

The jurist said, "We appreciate that juries are called upon to make the difficult decisions. Seventy-five per cent of all civil cases are settled long before they get to court. Only the difficult ones are brought to the jury. They are the ones no one else can settle. But juries throughout the nation have been able to settle the great majority of such cases. They approach the matter with an attitude of reasonableness and generally can reach a decision on which all agree." He sent the jury back for further deliberation.

The jurors were served dinner, and continued their deliberations. Finally at 10:05, eleven hours after they had started, the jury reported again that they could not reach a decision and as a result the case was put on the continued list.

$300 Is Netted On Sale Of Peanuts

Profits from the sale of peanuts totaled more than $300, according to reports presented Monday evening at a meeting of the Band Boosters Club at Gettysburg High School.

A discussion was held on the value of uniforms, and a panel discussion was held on the value of private lessons, and the amount of time necessary for practice. Thirty-five attended the meeting.

$1,691 NETTED AT HORSE SHOW LAST SUMMER

Profits from the 1957 Gettysburg Horse Show totaled $1,691 it was announced Tuesday night at a meeting of the Gettysburg Riding Club at the engine house, E. Middle St.

Following the custom of several years' standing, $800 was distributed to the Riding Club as its share of the profit, $800 will go to the Gettysburg Rotary Club, co-sponsor of the annual event, and $91 will remain in the treasury to start the 1958 horse show.

The Riding Club voted to turn over all of the profits from the 1958 horse show to the Warner Hospital. Rotary is expected to pass a similar resolution in the near future. Two years ago, in 1955, when the two clubs last turned the entire profits from their horse show to the hospital, the profits were $2,276.58.

Plans were announced for the Maryland - Pennsylvania Horse Show Awards banquet to be held Wednesday evening, November 27, at Banker's Restaurant, Littlestown. The banquet is held by the 12 horse shows in the two states which are members of the circuit. Awards are given on a point basis as won by persons participating in the 12 shows during the summer. Those wishing to attend the banquet are to make reservations with LeRoy Winebrenner, Baltimore St., by Saturday, it was announced. Paul Osborn, Biglerville, will show films of his foreign travels at the dinner session.

President Charles Jacobs appointed LeRoy Winebrenner, John Teeter, LeRoy LeVan as a nominating committee.

A report on rides conducted by the club showed that 50 per cent of those participating are visitors. Plans were announced for a ride December 15 on a new trail over Wolf Hill opened by Wilson Clapsaddle and LeRoy LeVan.

BANQUET HELD BY DEMOCRATS

The fifth annual banquet of the Women's Democratic Club of Adams County was held Monday evening at Lincoln Logs. The program opened with the salute to the flag, invocation by Mervin Baker and singing of "America."

Following the turkey dinner the chairman of the program committee, Miss Jean Miller, introduced Mrs. Sewell Kapp, president of the club. Mrs. Kapp gave a brief history of the club. The original membership of the group was 12, when it was formed October 12, 1952, with Mrs. Bessie Bringham as president. Mrs. Kapp said. By the end of that year the membership had increased to 28 and from a $14 balance in the treasury the amount had grown to $248. The county group received its charter from the state Federation of Women's Democratic Clubs on April 13, 1953.

Mrs. Kapp introduced her officers for the year and thanked them for their work.

Fred G. Klunk, county Democratic chairman, served as toastmaster and praised the work of the women's group in promoting the Democratic party. He introduced guests and the vice chairman of the party, Mrs. Evelyn Chrismer, secretary of the club, was chairman of the ticket committee for the banquet with Mrs. G. Ed Taughnbaugh co-chairman.

Mrs. Kapp announced there will be no December meeting of the club. The next meeting will be held the fourth Monday in January in the form of a covered dish luncheon at the YWCA.

HISTORIANS PRESENT GIFTS TO COLLEGE

Gettysburg College closed the observance of its 125th anniversary Tuesday evening with the congratulations and best wishes of the historians at the final session of the three-day conference on the Civil War, presentations of historical gifts to the college and a panel discussion at which results of the conference were summarized.

The final session was held in Christ Chapel with 400 or more in attendance. The conference opened Sunday on the theme: "The Civil War: An Emergent New America."

Carl Haverlin, president of Broadcast Music, Inc. of New York City, presented 14 prints of Tyson Brothers photographs made in Gettysburg in 1863. "If they are not unique, they possess very great rarity," he said as he handed them to John S. Rice, chairman of the college board of trustees.

Civil War Museum

In his acceptance speech, Mr. Rice told of plans for eventually converting historic Old Dorm on the campus into a Civil War museum and the center for a Civil War Institute. "When the museum is established, these prints will be given a prominent position. Until then, they will be displayed in our college library," he said.

Announcement was made also that Ralph Newman, proprietor of the Abraham Lincoln Bookshop in Chicago, will send to the college a letter he possesses, written to Gettysburg College by Gen. George Meade declining an invitation to the campus. The college has a similar letter from General Lee.

Dr. Allen Nevins, Dewitt Clinton professor of history at Columbia University, director of the conference, presided over the final summarizing panel and in his closing remarks expressed the appreciation of the historians for the three-day conference and extended their congratulations and best wishes for "another 125 years of service and success."

In his summarizing remarks, he said that while the Civil War had wide effects in nearly every phase of the life of the country, "many" (Continued On Page 2)

C. B. KECKLER, 78, DIES SUDDENLY

Clarence B. Keckler, 78, Mummasburg Rd., died this morning at 6 o'clock in his sleep.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, called after Mr. Keckler's body had been found, attributed the death to a heart attack. Although he had been in failing health, Mr. Keckler had seemed in his usual health when he retired at 11 p.m. Tuesday.

He was a native of Cumberland Twp. and was a son of Abraham and Eliza (Allison) Keckler and had lived in Adams County all his life. He had been a farmer most of his life but retired from that occupation 16 years ago and had worked at various jobs since that time.

He was a member of St. James Lutheran Church.

Among the survivors is his wife, the former Anna Riley, to whom he was married 49 years ago. There are these children: Mrs. Charles Linn, Emmitsburg; Ralph, serving with the U. S. Army at Fort Houston, Williamsburg, Va.; Mrs. Guy Kane, Gettysburg; Clarence B. Jr., Gettysburg R. 2; Mrs. Charles Hess, Gettysburg; Hugh, Gettysburg R. 2, and Mrs. Donald Gorman, Gettysburg R. 3. There are 23 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren, two brothers, Mervin Franklin Groves, Ill., and Emory, Idaho.

Funeral services at the Bender Funeral Home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with his pastor, the Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser, officiating. Friends may visit the funeral home Friday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

CONVICT TRIO OF ASSAULT IN COURT TUESDAY

James Harold Ritchie, 50 W. Railroad St., was found guilty of assault by an Adams County jury Tuesday afternoon after three hours and twenty-five minutes of deliberation.

The same jury found Ritchie's two companions on the night of the alleged crime, William M. Ritchie, 50 W. Railroad St., James Ritchie's brother, and Donald Martin Gastley, 54 W. Railroad St., guilty of being accessories to the assault.

Thomas F. Devine, Hanover R. 5, foreman of the jury, handed up its verdict to the court at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday night. It had begun its deliberations at 2:05 that afternoon.

Sentenced Today

James Ritchie was sentenced to from one and one-half to three years in the Eastern Penitentiary and ordered to pay the costs. The court noted that he had a record dating back to 1941 including breaking and entering, tampering with vehicles and post office robbery and that this was the third time that he had appeared before the court since moving to Gettysburg.

His brother, William Ritchie, was sentenced to from three to six months in the Adams County jail beginning September 21 and was ordered to pay the costs. The court (Continued On Page 2)

Historian Says Southerner Good Fighter, Poor Soldier

The following is a summary of the lecture "The Southern Soldier" delivered by Dr. David Donald, professor of history at Columbia University, at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Christ Chapel at the college in connection with the Civil War conference conducted there this week:

What subtle and indefinable differences distinguished the Southern soldier during the Civil War from his Northern counterpart? First of all, the Southerners had a chronic want of discipline. The Confederate army, as one participant put it, "was simply a vast mob of rather ill-armed young gentlemen from the country." To an extent almost unparalleled in any other major war, the Confederate common soldier was the master of his officers, because the Southern army was built on the principle that men might voluntarily elect their commanders. The result of the system, which the North too tried but abandoned, was to perpetuate an atmosphere of democracy and individualism. As Robert E. Lee announced in 1864: "The great want in our army is firm discipline."

Social Position

At the same time, however, the Southern soldier recognized and maintained another type of rank—that of social position. Southern "aristocrats," sons of wealthy planters for the most part, regarded themselves as superior to all law, civil or military, which did not coincide with their own opinions. At a disadvantage in the democratic company, elections, these young "nobles" went in great numbers into the upper command posts in the Confederate army, where they achieved a virtual monopoly.

Thus the Confederate army was both an extraordinarily democratic army and an extraordinarily aristocratic one. The paradox was a reflection of the basic ambivalence of Southern society itself, which believed in the equality of all white men and simultaneously recognized sharp gradations between the social classes. At the outset of the war, such a system worked very well. It brought (Continued On Page 4)

Warner Hospital Fund Drive For New Wing Goes 'Over The Top'; $352,332 Subscribed

The $350,000 Warner Hospital building fund went "over the top" Tuesday night as jubilant volunteers made their final reports at a meeting in the Hotel Gettysburg press room attended by more than 200 of the 500 volunteers enlisted for the two-week campaign.

The fund total now is $352,332. Atty. Richard A. Brown, fund chairman, who presided at the meeting, said, however, that additional subscriptions are anticipated. Many individuals and business firms, he said, still are determining the extent of their participation.

ELKS LODGE IS COMMENDED FOR LOCAL SERVICE

The Gettysburg lodge of Elks was congratulated "for your fine home and facilities, the condition of your property, your student aid program and your interest in community affairs" by Grand Exalted Ruler H. L. Blackledge, of Kearney, Neb., at a testimonial dinner tendered him Tuesday night at the Elks home.

"This is a fine community and you have a fine lodge. Everything appears in ship-shape and from what I have been able to learn during my brief visit here you are doing fine work in community projects," the Elks leader said.

"I am proud to be here because it was 94 years ago today that Abraham Lincoln delivered his immortal Gettysburg address."

The grand exalted ruler gave a definition of what an Elk is. He referred to the cardinal principles of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity. "But an Elk is even more than that. He must be an active member of his lodge, active in community affairs, serve his lodge and his community, his state and his nation. He must be an example of a good citizen and he must not only believe in God but he must practice his faith," he said.

Cites Elk Projects

Blackledge referred to the work of the grand lodge and the subordinate lodges, citing the service to veterans programs, the national foundation, the principal of which he said is never touched "hence grows and grows for better and more good in future years; student aid, crippled children, cerebral palsy, boys camps, hospital projects and many more too numerous to mention."

"Our 1,800 lodges with a membership of 1,200,000 are doing excellent work for the underprivileged, the needy and the deserving. We help youngsters in school and we do a great deal for crippled children. We enjoy the respect and the esteem of our fellow citizens and each year we grow bigger and better and do more and greater things."

"I urge you all to be loyal and faithful Elks, work at your job of being an Elk."

Russell Kane, exalted ruler of the local lodge, was the toastmaster. He introduced H. Earl Pitzer, a past exalted ruler and district deputy grand exalted ruler and one-time president of the Pennsylvania State Elks Association. Pitzer introduced a number of visiting Elks including Howard R. Davis, of Williamsport, a former grand exalted ruler; John S. Buchanan, Bedford, president of the state association; (Continued On Page 4)

PRIEST URGES EXCHANGE TO SET EXAMPLE

Rev. Fr. Alexius Arnoldin, assistant pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, was the speaker Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Gettysburg Exchange Club at Banker's Restaurant.

"One can consider the real beginning of our country centered around the first Thanksgiving the Pilgrims celebrated in America to give thanks for their newly found freedom of religion and speech and freedom from tyranny," Father Arnoldin said.

"We should at this season of the year give thought and consideration as to what our birthright really is and realize that we owe it to the Supreme Creator of all things—God."

"As a service club working with all other service clubs we should set an example to the people in our community by daily acknowledging that the material and spiritual wealth which is ours is given us by the grace of God, without Whose help and providence we would not be."

"We in America enjoy freedom and luxuries which many other countries do not have and it is expected of us to live and practice daily real Christian living."

President Carl Prosser presided. He announced the annual ladies night Christmas dinner will be held December 10 at 7 p.m. at the Two Taverns Community Hall.

Was Driving With License Suspended

George Earl Smith, 19, Orrtanna R. 1, today posted $500 bail to appear for sentence on a charge of driving while his operator's license was suspended. He had entered a plea of guilty to the charge today before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

Placed by state police, the charge was the second brought against Smith following an accident Monday evening when a car he was operating ran off the Harrisburg Rd. just south of Schriver's Crossroads and overturned. State police placed the first charge, "reckless driving, before Justice of the Peace Robert D. Bell, Straban Twp.

DELIVERS LAST OF CIVIL WAR LECTURES HERE

"The Third War Aim" was the subject of the lecture delivered at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in Christ Chapel at the closing session of the Civil War conference by Dr. C. Vann Woodward, professor of history at The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Dr. Harold A. Dunkelberger, assistant chairman of the committee on arrangements at the college, presided. John Hope Franklin, chairman of the department of history at Brooklyn College, was the discussion chairman.

Following the address, Dr. Allen Nevins led a panel on a summary of the conference.

The following is a summary of the address:

"The North, unlike the South, moved hesitantly toward a definition of its war aims during the Civil War. Beginning with the limited war aim of Union, it moved gradually toward the aim of Freedom, and finally became committed by the radicals to the aim of Equality. The country honored and fulfilled the commitment to Union and to Freedom, but not to the third war aim, in spite of the fact that Equality for the freedmen was written as firmly into the Constitution and law as were Union and Freedom, and there were signs from the start that popular convictions in the North as well as the South were not prepared to sustain this war aim, that legal commitments exceeded moral persuasion. The conduct of the Federal army toward the freedmen, the negative attitude of the Southward-looking border area, the anti-Negro laws passed by the (Continued On Page 3)

Leist-Smith Case Up

One jury was in the law library hearing the trespass action brought by Allen Leist, 270 S. Washington St., against Ellis Smith Jr., W. Middle St., as a result of a disturbance at the Blue Parrot Tea Room early on the morning of December 24, 1953. Leist alleges he was struck by Smith when Leist and the then proprietor of the establishment, James A. Aumen, Chambersburg St., ejected Smith, who had been serving as bartender. As a result of the blow Leist claims he suffered injuries for which he should collect damages.

Another jury, which had heard the trespass action brought by Goldie A. Stevens, York Springs R. D., against Naomi Chronister, Gardners R. D., and Jewell Gantz, Aspers R. D., was in the jury room considering its verdict in that case. The Stevens suit stems from an automobile accident near the Gantz home in which the plaintiff suffered a fractured nose, fractures of five ribs and a number of leg injuries. She was hospitalized for a number of weeks.

Other Court Trials

According to the testimony, Gantz drove his truck from his private drive onto the highway and was proceeding on the highway when the Chronister car swung out to avoid the truck and collided with the Stevens auto coming from the opposite direction.

While that jury was deliberating its verdict, another jury was drawn in the court room to hear trespass action of H. Walter Rens against Edith F. Baker, administratrix of the estate of Samuel J. Mattingly, late of Gettysburg.

Tuesday a jury was drawn in the action in assumpt brought by Charles E. Benchoff, Littlestown R. D., against Paradise Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Littlestown. After the beginning testimony the court directed a compulsory non-suit in that case.

Two Jury Lists

The jury hearing the Leist-Smith case includes Mrs. Vesta K. Hall, Arendtsville; Guy Little, Gettysburg R. D.; Mrs. Lillian Dillon, Ottantanna; Lewis Mott, Prince St., Littlestown; Eugene Bostwick, Fairfield; Bruce N. Barbour, Idaville; Blain O. Beamer, York Springs R. D.; Eleanor Weaver, Hanover R. D.; Mrs. Charles Smith, 145 W. Broadway; Mrs. Bertha L. Altland, East Berlin; Robert Hartman, Biglerville, and John Rohrbach, Gettysburg R. D.

The jury deliberating the Stevens-Chronister case includes John Bucher Sr., Cashtown; Bessie M. Henry, Littlestown; John Groff, Hanover R. D.; H. L. Anthony, Abbotstown; Mrs. Lillian Bollinger, Hanover R. D.; James Dutta, Littlestown R. D.; Martha A. Knechtel, 300 E. Middle St.; Merle F. Kinne-man, Abbotstown R. D.; Myles L. Starnier, Biglerville R. D.; John J. Baker, East Berlin; Miss Betty Hall, Ottantanna R. D.; and Mrs. Myrtle Elledge, Gettysburg R. D.

DEATHS

Mrs. C. C. Hess
Mrs. Lydia Alberta Hess, 62, wife of Carroll C. Hess, Taneytown, died Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Frederick Hospital where she had been a patient for the last 16 weeks. She had been in failing health for six months.

A native of Taneytown, she was a daughter of the late Jasper and Mary (Brown) Baker. She was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown, taught in the Sunday School of that church, was honorary president of the United Lutheran Church Women's group of the church, a member of the Mite Society and the American Legion Auxiliary and prior to her illness had been a "Gray Lady" for the Red Cross.

Surviving are her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Richard Etzler, Taneytown; three stepdaughters, Mrs. Ellen Sklar, Ocean City, Md.; Mrs. Kelsey Milner, Hamilton, Montana; and Mrs. Paul Mannino, La Mesa, California.

Also surviving are 17 grandchildren, two brothers, Clayford Baker, Westminster, and Glenn Baker, Highfield and four sisters, Mrs. Lella Robertson, New Windsor; Mrs. Nannie Lamb, Hanover; Mrs. Earl Bywaters, York, and Mrs. Russell Feeser, Taneytown.

Funeral services Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown, with her pastor, Rev. Stanley Jennings, officiating. Interment in the church cemetery. The body will lie in state at the church from 1 to 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Friends may call Thursday evening from 7 to 9 at the Fuss Funeral Home, Taneytown.

Mrs. John H. Parker
Word has been received here of the death Monday of Mrs. Margaret (Guinn) Parker, 83, widow of John H. Parker. Death occurred at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Albert Harrox, Springfield, Pa.

Mrs. Parker was a native of Greenmont and was a daughter of the late John and Jane Guinn. Her husband died a number of years ago.

the peace that was to follow the war and he obviously used the Gettysburg Address as a means of conveying his thought of what the American democracy should be in peace.

DR. JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN

experiment had succeeded. Their concept of freedom and justice under the rule of law had become an example of the world.

Hope Of World

"Lincoln, here at Gettysburg, noted that the hope of the world was this democracy which had been founded four score and seven years before."

"By World War I, Wilson could see clearly that there were two great balances of power in the world, democracy and autocracy. He was speaking in the same spirit as Lincoln spoke at Gettysburg when he declared our fight was to make the world safe for democracy, just as Lincoln had said we should dedicate ourselves that government of the people, by the people, for the people should not perish from the earth."

"And so we come to today, and we find our nation more powerful than ever. Truly today we must be dedicated that government by the people shall not perish from the earth."

Great Responsibility

"In that struggle we find our responsibility greatly enlarged. We must take stock of our duty in this greater concept."

"Looking at today in the spirit of Lincoln we must more than ever guard against losing our heritage from inside, for we are in more danger from within than without. We must be concerned, lest in meeting the challenge of our enemies, they may compel us to imitate their base principles and policies. If, in combating tyranny, we lose all tolerance, all liberalism, all that for which Lincoln stood will disappear."

"We are becoming a mechanized nation, we must guard against a militarized tempo. We hear the cry that we must have ever increased armaments. I think we should be more concerned with selective armaments so that we might not lose ourselves in a sea of militarism."

Spiritual Values

"Today with the Russian Sputniks above us, we hear a great cry that we must, in a sense, turn ourselves into a nation of scientists, concerned with material things that our physical sciences may surpass that of autocracy. If we give way to this, if we forget the spiritual things of our heritage, if we forget our tolerance and turn all our thoughts to the material, then shall we pervert the idea of American democracy and Lincoln will no longer have meaning to us. The key thing is not external, but internal, and our best weapons are not armies and airplanes and warships and ballistic missiles, but the spiritual values which we can provide the world."

Newman told the group that "since 1839 there have been more than 6,000 books written about Lincoln and 34,000 books about the Civil War. This year there were 150 more books written about the Civil War."

More Interest In War

"In the 26 years I have been operating a book store, the viewpoint has changed concerning the Civil War and Lincoln. The earlier group looked upon the war with a sentimental view. And those who thought of Lincoln thought of him, rather than the war. Today Lincoln and the Civil War are inseparable, and since World War II the young men have been a much more critical audience for Civil War books. As a result there has been a great increase in the writing of good books. They get better and better. And most of our outstanding writers are newspaper trained. They know how to say something new, to give feeling to battle."

At Christ Chapel, Chester S. Shriver, Pennsylvania department secretary of the SUV, introduced Dr. Frederick Tilberg, president of the Lincoln Fellowship of Pennsylvania, who was the master of ceremonies. Rev. Robert MacAskill, pastor of the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation and Rev. Dr. Paul L. Reaser, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, gave the benediction. Following the singing of "America" Dr. Clyde C. Walton state historian of Illinois, gave the Dedication Day address.

Dr. John Hope Franklin, chairman of the department of history of Brooklyn College recited Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

of them beneficent results, the war can be characterized truly only as a terrible tragedy and a terrible indictment of American statesmanship of the first half of the last century."

Large Field Open

"In this conference," Dr. Nevins said, we have not attempted a fraction of the field we might have covered. We have considered not at all or very briefly the sociological, religious, moral, ideological, intellectual and psychological results of the Civil War. We have left untouched the change in the status of women brought about by the war and have said little about what the war did for the growth of nationalism in America.

"Much of our conference has been on the negative side. There was one paper that said man, of the economic results often attributed to the war, especially in the South, were mistaken conclusions reached soon after the war. Another said the literary impact of the war was 'zero.' And tonight Dr. Woodward has told us that while the war achieved freedom for the negroes, the promised equality has never been made effective."

"On the other hand, we must agree that the Civil War had great influence in every field of American life, either because of compulsion or the high incentives of profit or promotion."

Others On Panel

Other panel members were J. Merton England of the University of Kentucky and managing editor of the Journal of Southern History; Clyde G. Walton, Illinois state historian of Springfield, Ill., and editor of Civil War History, and Dr. John Hope Franklin, formerly of Howard University and now chairman of the Department of History at Brooklyn College.

Dr. Franklin expressed the opinion that the conference tone had been negative. "We have found there is a need to re-examine with care and detail some of the conclusions reached long ago with regard to the Civil War. We have found the Civil War is still a fruitful area for study." He spoke particularly of the "present implications" of the discussions and the "relevance of Civil War days to our own times."

Dr. Franklin had led discussion after the final prepared speech of the conference by Dr. C. Vann Woodward from Johns Hopkins University on "The Third Aim of the War—Equality."

A bus brought 34 students from Penn Hall, Chambersburg, to the final sessions Tuesday evening.

Littlestown ROTARIANS HEAR OF RUSSIAN TRIP AT DINNER MEET

Mrs. William E. Stoudt, Baltimore, presented a talk on her recent trip to Russia at the weekly dinner meeting of the Littlestown Rotary Club on Tuesday evening at Schottie's Hotel. The speaker told the group that everyone works in Russia with many women doing hard manual labor; the people are "very friendly and are very appreciative of their meager possessions," she said. She also noted the scientific and technical advances which she observed on her visit to that country.

Mrs. Stoudt, who is the sister of Maurice C. Wareheim, Park Ave., made her Russian visit as a side trip to Germany for a stay with Mr. Wareheim's son-in-law and daughter, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Edwin W. Elder, and family. She was introduced to the club Tuesday evening by Charles E. Ritter, of the Vocational Service Committee, in charge of the program.

Prior to the meal, the invocation was offered by the Rev. David S. Kammerer, Theron W. Spangler introduced visiting Rotarian Elmer Warren, Hanover. Frank E. Basehoar presented the club "boy of the month," Larry Hawk, a senior at the Littlestown High School. President A. G. Ealy announced that the club stood fourth in the district in attendance last month with an average of 95.51. He also Crouse was won by Mrs. Luther Silfer. Refreshments were served to the group by Mrs. Donald Hess, Mrs. Luther Hess and Mrs. Paul E. King.

The Brownie of Troop 56 met on Tuesday after school at the engine house, at which time the following were invested in the troop: Mrs. James H. Spalding assistant leader; Mrs. George Rhodes, troop committeewoman; June O'Donnell and Linda Woodward, members. Beverly Hartlaub was welcomed as a member of the troop from Troop 61. At the close of the business, group games were played.

read several letters of appreciation from local "Old Timers" who were guests of the club at a special program meeting two weeks ago. President Ealy also introduced his guest, Charles Slusser.

Ladies' Night will be observed when a Thanksgiving program is presented at the meeting and dinner next Tuesday, 6:15 p.m., in the social hall of Redeemer's United Church of Christ. The program committee is composed of George P. Smith, chairman, Carl F. Hermann, Nevaeh A. Crouse, Dr. Joseph R. Riden, Preston L. Myers and Arthur E. Blair Sr. The meal will be served by the Hustlers' Class of Redeemer's.

Two Girls Invested

Two members not previously invested in Brownie troop No. 61 were invested at the meeting on Saturday morning in the engine house. They were Billie Jo Baker and Cynthia Feser. Their mothers, Mrs. Lloyd Baker and Mrs. Mahlon Feser, were guests at the meeting. The girls continued work on their Thanksgiving projects, and a Thanksgiving story was told by Mrs. George Schaefer, troop leader. A game period was enjoyed. Girl Scout calendars were distributed for sale by the Troop.

Miss Evelyn C. Alloff, E. King St., spent the weekend in Baltimore, where she visited with her aunt, Sister Marina and Mother M. Marmelita. Mrs. Catherine Thompson, Baltimore, returned home with her to spend several days.

DELIVERS LAST

"Borrowed Moral Capital"

"The Union fought the Civil War in part on borrowed moral capital. It ran up a moral war debt beyond its capacity to pay. After a few token payments during Reconstruction, the country defaulted on the debt and declared an informal moratorium that lasted nearly a century. Toward the middle of the twentieth century American conscience and conviction began to catch up with the repudiated legal commitment to the ideal of equality. The Supreme Court, having once declared the debt invalid, now upheld its validity, and the country was once more committed to the forgotten Civil War aim. This has produced another sectional crisis along the old lines over some of the old issues. As we approach the centennial anniversary of the Civil War, we also approach the climax of the new sectional crisis. It is to be hoped that the celebration does not coincide with a crisis reminiscent of the one celebrated.

HOLD CHARITY FAIR ON DEC. 14

St. Joseph College's annual Charity Fair will take place on the Emmitsburg campus Saturday, December 14. Given to aid the home and foreign missions, the fair is under the direction of Sister Juliana, instructor in the science department. Emily Marowski, Children of Mary president from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and her council will lead students in preparations.

SJClennes will decorate Verrier building in keeping with the general theme "O Come All Ye Faithful" under the supervision of Judith McNally, Rockville, Md., chairman of decorations.

From 1-9:30 p.m. various booths will offer gifts, handicraft, religious articles, games, door prizes and refreshments.

Mary Sheridan, Ridgewood, N. J., and Joyce Bissikumer, Staunton, Va., will chairmen a Package Party scheduled for Decem-- 3 to collect gifts which will be on sale at the fair. Proceeds from the annual pre-fair intra-mural basketball game on December 5 will also support the fair.

Lois Lippe, Frederick, Md., heads the publicity committee, while Joyce Bissikumer, Staunton, Va., is serving as student chairman of finances.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

88 Persons At Sons Of Vets Banquet Here: Eighty-eight guests were present at the second annual banquet of the Past Commanders and Past Presidents association of the Sons of Union Veterans at the Hotel Gettysburg Saturday night, commemorating the dedication of the Gettysburg National Cemetery by Abraham Lincoln November 19, 1863.

Staff Sergeant Edward F. Straubach, chairman of the committee on arrangements, introduced the toastmaster, Captain C. F. Aument, of Lancaster.

Present Gavel To D.A.R. Made From Washington Beam: The Gettysburg chapter of the D.A.R. held its November meeting Saturday at the home of Mrs. C. E. Buhlmeier, Broadway, with twenty-one members present. Mrs. J. Ellis Musselman, regent, presided. A gavel made from a beam taken from "Kenmore," the ancestral home of George Washington, was presented to the local chapter by Mrs. H. A. Smith of the Kenmore association.

Democrats Escort G. O. P. Friends On Silver River Parade: There were clown faces, white faces and black faces. There were donkeys and horses, automobiles, trucks, make shift auto cars, roosters, and turtles. There were high silk hats, felt hats, straw hats, brown derbies and collapsible plugs. There was practically every kind of make-up and make-down and it was all in fun.

It was the 1932 "Salt river excursion" of the democrats of Adams county, celebrating the Roosevelt landslide in the recent general election and the democrats were taking their good friends, the republicans, "up salt river" for at least four years.

The grand farewell procession took place in the main streets and of Gettysburg and some of the back streets, Friday evening, and it was the largest and most colorful parade held in Gettysburg in many a year.

G. R. Thompson, chairman of the republican county committee, was the guest of honor. He rode in the main float with his democratic friends and gleefully waved to his republican friends as the huge float rolled through the streets of town to the accompaniment of the martial airs by several bands.

The procession was more than a mile long. It was the largest parade of its kind ever held in Gettysburg and thousands of democrats and republicans, men and women, young and old, lined the streets and applauded, cheered or booed, just as they desired, as the paraders filed by.

Local Student Honored At G'burg College: Raymond F. Sheely, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Sheely, West Middle street and a senior at Gettysburg college, has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity at the Iota chapter of Pennsylvania. Wednesday afternoon at Gettysburg hall, Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, head of the history department at Gettysburg College, announced today.

Pay Tribute To Carolyn Cole's Memory Nov. 22: Many Gettysburg and Adams county friends of the late Miss Carolyn Louise Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Cole, of the Narrows, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident last April, plan to attend the dedication of the Carolyn Louise Cole Memorial Library at the Marjorie Webster school, Washington, on Tuesday afternoon.

County Girl Is Secretly Married: Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen Yohe, of New Oxford, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Edna Yohe, to Leonard Parkinson, of Niagara Falls, New York. The ceremony took place April 14, 1931, in the Christ Episcopal church, Rockville, Maryland.

Today's Talk

DOES IT MATTER?
I believe we can formulate a way of life that will help to secure us when doubts and emergencies appear as we journey through life. We need a sense of values to guide us from day to day. Our mental attitude is most important. It can prove a shield to give us hope and protection against fears, regrets, and disappointments.

When most worried and troubled, why can't we ask ourselves "does it matter?" If we answer honestly the chances are that these disturbances of mind will leave us quickly under their own steam. The healthy and devout mind brushes aside all interference.

Habitually we learn from our own mistakes and blunders. But to get the lesson learned is what matters most. Each one of us is master of his own thoughts. We often say things we regret saying, but if we do our best to make amends we can safely dismiss all thoughts of them. Petty hates, worries and resentments should never be allowed to live in a healthy mind.

Said Goethe: "What each day needs that shall thou ask, each day will set its proper task." It's the little unimportant things that haunt us most. Like evil germs that creep into our system when we get careless or thoughtless!

We should get a grip on ourselves and respect the worthwhile values of life, clinging to those that have a touch of immortality to them! Let us not disorganize our lives with the petty values that have no substance to them.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Face It!"

Just Folks

THE LITTLE HOMEY CHILD
I'm just a homely little boy
That has to study hard to get My lessons, an' I've got to have
'Em perfect every time, you bet.
I've got a cawick on my head.
An' freckles, an' a turned-up nose;
Of all the girls an' boys in school,
I am the homeliest one that goes.
A pretty little boy who cried
Because his lessons he had missed.
Instead of being roasted hard,
Was by the teacher hugged an' kissed.

It ain't my fault that I'm not cute
An' nice an' sweet to look upon,
I can't help being freckle-faced.
An' p'raps I ain't as bright as John.

An' Fred, an' Jennie—just the same
I study hard as hard can be,
But when I miss at spelling time
No teacher ever kisses me.
I get a call down as a rule.
An' not because I didn't try.
It seems to me it's just because
I'm homely — that's the reason why.

U. S. AND FRANCE REACH RECORD ON TUNIS ARMS

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States and France reportedly have agreed to a plan for supplying Tunisia with Western arms in such a way that French temper can cool and they can patch up the Atlantic Alliance.

Diplomats said Secretary of State Dulles and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau reached the agreement during a three-hour talk at the State Department yesterday.

Dulles and Pineau covered other topics, including France's two-year fight against Algerian rebels and President Eisenhower's proposals to breathe new life into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Hope For "Cooling Off"
Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, sat in on the NATO part of the talks. Stevenson is acting as Democratic consultant on plans to strengthen NATO.

Officials said Dulles and Pineau agreed that Western arms given must not be permitted to fall into the hands of rebels in neighboring Algeria.

They agreed to do this through close consultation among themselves, Britain and Tunisia. In the meantime, they hoped for a simmering down of what Pineau called "the great emotional reaction" among the people of France to last week's U. S.-British shipment of about 1,000 small arms to Tunisia despite bitter objections from the French government.

Times President Key Man
Pineau and Dulles apparently held off announcing their agreement to let French emotion cool off.

The consultations are expected to take into consideration any weapons received by Tunisia from other sources.

The key man in the plan appeared to be Tunisia's President Habib Bourguiba. He has said he wants to buy his guns from Western nations. But he insists he has enough arms to equip his 4,000-man army and, if the West does not supply them, he would accept military aid from anywhere, including the Soviet bloc.

Dulles told Pineau that Bourguiba had pledged that the weapons he got from America and Britain would not be transferred anywhere.

15 Accused Of Illegal Hunting

BALTIMORE (P)—Four Pennsylvanians were among a group of 15 hunters, including two top Army generals, charged yesterday with illegally hunting wild geese in a baited area.

Ass't. U.S. Atty. John G. Underwood charged that the party hunted wild geese at the Great Oak Farm in Kent County on Nov. 7, first day of the shooting season. The area was scattered with corn as a lure, Underwood said.

The Pennsylvanians were listed as Maj. Gen. Chance H. 45, Paoli; James W. Herman, 58, Coatesville; William E. Mullenstein, 44, West Chester; and Kenneth M. McLaughlin, 51, Lancaster.

The two generals were identified as Maj. Gen. Rinaldo Van Brunt, 65, chief of staff of the 2nd Army, Ft. Meade, Md., and Lt. Gen. Edward T. Williams, 56, deputy commanding general, Continental Army Command, Ft. Monroe, Va.

Text Of Address By Clyde C. Walton Here On Tuesday

The following is the complete text of the address delivered by Clyde C. Walton, Illinois state historian, Tuesday afternoon in Christ Chapel on the 94th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address:

The crowd assembled on the Gettysburg battlefield ninety-four years ago heard the last stanzas of Benjamin B. French's hymn sung by the 100-voice choir. One of them went:

"Great God In Heaven!
Shall all this sacred blood be shed?
Shall we thus mourn our glorious dead?
O, shall the end be wrath and woe,
The knell of Freedom's overthrow,
A country given?"

As if in answer to this verse, Ward Hill Lamon rose, stepped forward, and announced simply, "The President of the United States."

And Abraham Lincoln unfolded himself from a rocking chair, manuscript in hand, and stood tall before the crowd. After short applause he began, in his high, thin, Kentucky voice, to voice his dedicatory remarks. This brief address has been more widely read and more thoroughly studied than any public address by any American.

Consider Meaning
We are gathered here today on the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. We are gathered here not only to listen again to Lincoln's familiar words, but to remember the compelling events which inspired them, and to consider what those familiar words mean to all of us nearly a century after they were first heard.

Lincoln was speaking, on November 19, 1863, in the midst of a Civil War. He was speaking at the dedication of a military cemetery, a military cemetery located on a field where four months earlier a stern and appalling battle had been fought. Not the primary speaker at the cemetery dedication, Lincoln came to Gettysburg because there was something vitally significant that he wanted to say.

Comfort The Bereaved
Many of those in the crowd on dedication day were here because they had a son, or brother, a father, or a husband, resting in a forever silent sleep beneath the rows of crosses. To these people, particularly, Lincoln pointed his remarks, with a very human hope that his few words would soften the anguish of the bereavement. Equally important, Lincoln wanted to say, to a nation torn and tormented by Civil War, that the good fight was worth its tragic cost.

In direct contrast to Lincoln's words, Secretary of State William Seward's impromptu address, made in the previous evening in Gettysburg as a response to a serenading group of well-wishers, seems cruel and unforgiving. Seward said, in part:

"... I saw, forty years ago, that slavery was opening before this people a graveyard that was to be filled with brothers falling in mutual political combat."
"We are now near the graves of the misguided, whom we have consigned to their last resting place, with pity for their errors..."

Death Of Confederacy
No such harsh words from Lincoln, though he spoke while the war still raged. He could not be certain.

as we are now, that the military events of July, 1863, had signaled the death knell of the Confederacy. Vicksburg captured the victory at Gettysburg, all in the same week! Although he had hoped for a final and decisive conquest at Gettysburg, he realized that the pendulum of success had swung at last to the North.

He was certain, too, that no matter how high the price, the victory was worth its cost, and the loss in lives and pitifully mangled bodies, in destroyed buildings, and burned fields, and in bitter, long-lived hatred was high—a national catastrophe. Yet, said Lincoln, individual liberty and the perpetuation of our democratic institutions have a value beyond any price which might be exacted. And the Union was to Lincoln the symbol of man's most noble experiment in self regulation. In the Union Lincoln saw a mystic vision of liberty, a vision of political equality and social fraternity, a new life for the individual to lead in personal freedom and simple dignity. What more noble cause, he said, could possibly commend itself so clearly as being worthy of our deepest devotion? At certain times a man has to stand up and be counted, has to stand firm on matters of principle. What principles are more worthy of preservation than individual freedom and human dignity as expressed in the Union of the American states?

"Worth The Effort"
Yes, said Lincoln, whatever the price, whatever the ultimate cost, the perpetuation of these principles is worth the effort.

All of us here today can fervently echo Lincoln's faith in the foundations underlying our successful system of self-government.

Lincoln spoke here, too, of the violence which is the idiot twin of political liberty. He spoke to the effect that the Union was born during the violent storm of a War of Revolution. He knew that the ideas manifested in the Declaration of Independence and in the Constitution had been matured only through another national conflict. Perhaps he had read the words of an earlier American leader which suggested that the tree of liberty is best watered by the blood of patriots.

Enduring truths have always aroused the spirits of free men in their defense. We have seen that this so through a series of global conflicts which have taken place in our time. The security of liberty is always in danger, and our faith in the future of our nation needs constantly to be renewed. Lincoln said that conflict tests the quality of our faith, that conflict will continue to test our steadfast adherence to first principles seems obvious. Through each time of crisis this proposition has been tested, and not yet has any flaw in our basic creed been revealed.

Face Severe Test

And Lincoln said, too, that our unique political experiment was facing a severe test—the most severe test it had yet experienced. Since the Civil War the Union has passed through many good and pleasant days. It has, unhappily, passed through many bad and unpleasant days. So, too, today the principle of the supremacy of federal authority in maintaining the law of the land is being challenged, not too unlike the way Lincoln's government was challenged nearly a century ago. We can only trust that the American nation again can meet a challenge in the wisdom and dignity and steadfast adherence to principle which characterized the faith of Abraham Lincoln. The responsibility of maintaining our tested and proved philosophy of government should indeed weigh heavily on us all.

It seems a happy omen for the future to notice here that the President of the United States lives upon the borders of this battlefield and cemetery. In this place the very air seems charged with the presence of history. This is a place where strong men faced great issues, where a great event helped to shape the character of American life. These fields, once torn by the passage of two mighty armies, are quiet today. Perhaps it is not too much to believe that one great American by virtue of his surroundings may draw from the exemplary words said here by the greatest American of us all, the wisdom and vision necessary to lead the United States toward the promised land of personal freedom, human dignity and universal prosperity.

Reach Agreement In York Strike

YORK, Pa. (P)—A tentative agreement in the five-month-old strike at the York-Hoover Corp. here was before the union and company today for final approval.

The agreement was announced last night by William L. Batt Jr., state secretary of labor and industry, at a press conference in the office of Mayor Fred A. Schiding. Batt and Schiding had entered the dispute earlier this month after York-Hoover threatened to close its plant permanently.

Historian Says

trained men into unchallenged leadership, and at the same time, when subaltern officers lacked experience in command, it capitalized upon the sturdy individualism of the recruits.

Serious Handicap

But what was an advantage in the opening days of the war became a serious handicap later. When gigantic and highly trained Northern armies pressed forward after 1863, the Confederate, though still a magnificent fighter, was disadvantaged by his indifference to discipline. And the rigidity of social structure which had provided the Confederacy with a secure, trained top command at the outbreak of the war also became a handicap as the conflict continued. There was an aristocratic hostility to change among the leading commanders, an aversion for the kind of strategic improvisation which so distinguished Lincoln, Sherman, and Grant.

The Southerner as a fighting man, then, was a product of the paradoxical world that was the ante-bellum South, devoted to the principles of democracy and the practice of aristocracy. And to compound the paradox, the Southerner's assets at the outbreak of the war became his liabilities by its conclusion. Historians in seeking the reasons for the collapse of the Confederacy have correctly pointed to inadequate Southern resources, poor transportation, unimaginative political leadership, and state rights. All these, and more, deserve to be taken into account, yet perhaps more basic to the Confederate failure was the fundamental ambivalence in the Southern attitude toward democracy. Because of that weakness, the Southerner made an admirable fighting man but a poor soldier.

U. N. ASSEMBLY BACKS WEST'S ARMS EFFORTS

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (P)—The U.N. General Assembly has endorsed the West's efforts to keep disarmament talks going but a new Soviet boycott threat promises complete breakdown of the perennially deadlocked negotiations.

A Western plan to increase the 12-nation Disarmament Commission to 25 members was approved 60-9 yesterday. Four Communist nations and three neutrals would be included under the plan.

The Assembly rejected 38-19 a Communist proposal to enlarge the commission to 32 nations, half of them Communist or neutralist. A Russian proposal to throw open the arms talks to all 82 U.N. nations drew only the 9 Soviet bloc votes to 46 opposing ballots.

Promise Refusal

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov declared the Soviet Union would refuse to take part in any more meetings of the Disarmament Commission unless its 32-member plan was accepted. Kuznetsov said Russia also ruled out any negotiations on the basis of the Assembly resolution last week endorsing the West's last arms proposals as a starting point for the future negotiations. The Soviets rejected the Western proposals at the talks which ended in London in August.

Want To Continue

In a statement after the vote, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared that "the Assembly has emphatically proclaimed to the world—and to the Soviet Union—that it wants disarmament talks to continue. The Soviet Union cannot successfully disregard this massive expression of world opinion."

American sources predicted that after their public stand, the Russians would quietly join the East-West negotiations.

Other diplomats were less optimistic. Some felt the Assembly's action spelled the final collapse of the arms talks, which have been dragging on since 1954 in the subcommittee and its five-nation subcommittee.

Warrior Gridders Tallied In Every Contest Despite Being Held To 3-5 Record

With the cancellation of Tuesday's game with Hershey, Gettysburg High School's 1957 football team wound up with a 3-5 record, best since the 1953 mark of 6-3.

A number of other accomplishments were turned in by the Warriors who were under the direction of Ben Jones for the first time.

For the first time since the unbeaten season of 1951, the Warriors scored in every game played. In seven games they managed touchdowns while Earl Little's field goal against Carlisle accounted for the only points in that contest. That field goal was the first kicked by a Gettysburg player since "Pooney" Carter booted one in 1940.

In point production Coach Ben Jones' outfit were outscored by the opponents 156-95.

Keefe Tops In Touchdowns
Kenny Keefe, halfback, accounted for four of the Warriors' 14 touchdowns to lead the point-producers with 24.

Scoring two six-pointers each were Earl Little, Joel Riddlemose, Bob Furney and Rex Baltzley. Gary Maitland and Keith MacKenzie each accounted for one.

Little connected for eight points on placements after touchdowns, which coupled with his field goal and pair of touchdowns, was good for a total of 23 points.

Coach Jones is already looking forward to even more improvement next year when he will have all but five of his 1957 squad returning.

Missing will be Captain Little, Baltzley, Keefe, MacKenzie and Tom Shields, all of whom are Seniors.

INDIANS' DEAL WITH A'S FOLDS

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two trades involving the Cleveland Indians' Vic Wertz, Al Smith and Rocky Colavito for Kansas City infielders Billy Martin and Vic Power failed to come off last night, the Cleveland Plain-Dealer reported.

Frank Lane, Indians' general manager, was quoted that a Smith by Arnold Johnson, President of the Kansas City Athletics. Smith is a speedy outfielder who spent part of last season at third base for Cleveland.

Lane said Johnson then asked for Wertz, a first baseman who batted .282 last season, and Colavito, a strong-armed outfielder, in exchange for Martin and Vic Power. Lane said he was reluctant to part with Colavito and would make no deal involving power. Wertz would only be traded for a hard-hitting infielder, he added.

Kansas City is dickering with several other clubs including the Detroit Tigers. Lane quoted Johnson, and Martin is the key man in trade talk.

Lane was reached in Havana, Cuba, where he is meeting with Bobby Bragan, the Indians' field manager.

WILLIAMS LEADS

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten but once-tied Williams today gained a slight lead in the race for the Lambert Cup, emblematic of the small college football championship in the East.

Lehigh, once beaten this year, trailed by the smallest of margins with 9.21 points, as Williams led with 9.29.

BULLETS FIFTH IN EAST SMALL COLLEGE GROUP

In balloting as close as any in the 22-year history of Lambert trophies competition, unbeaten but once-tied Williams has gained the lead in the race for the first annual Lambert Cup, emblematic of the Eastern small college championship.

The Ephrims, beating previously undefeated Amherst, 39 to 14, in their season's finale last Saturday, gained a lead of 8/100s of a point over once-beaten Lehigh, which licked Buffalo, 27 to 7, in its last outing. Ratings are based on 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second and so on. Lehigh has one game left, with Lafayette this week-end.

Out of a possible average of 10, Williams has a rating of 9.29 to Lehigh's 9.21. Of the 12-man selection board of coaches and news, magazine and radio-TV men, five cast their first-place ballot for each team. One voted for Tufts, which tied Williams and lost to Amherst in eight games, and the other split his first-place ballot between the two leaders.

Amherst (7-1), last week's leader, dropped to third, with an average of 6.8, while Tufts (6-1-1) is fourth with 6.5 and Gettysburg (7-1) is fifth with 6.3. The rest of the top ten includes Hobart (6-0), with 4.0; Juniata (6-0), with 3.3; Delaware (4-3), with 3.0; Hofstra (8-1), with 1.7; and West Chester (9-0), 1.4.

The Gettysburg Archers will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Gettysburg News and Sporting Goods store, Chambersburg St., Edmund Trostle, temporary president, announced this morning.

"All archers or others wishing to become archers and who wish to join our group are urged to attend tonight's meeting. Our charter will close on Sunday and it is hoped that those interested will join before that time," Trostle said.

Richard C. Cole is temporary vice president, James Leech, secretary-treasurer, and Kenneth Knox, chairman of the field committee.

WEST CHESTER WINS 9 IN ROW

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Undeclared and untied West Chester State Teachers College recorded its ninth straight victory last weekend to take honors as winningest Pennsylvania college football team of 1957.

West Chester and the Lock Haven Teachers, also undefeated and untied with eight wins, completed their seasons. Juniata College, the only other perfect record team in the state, has won six straight but has one game to play. Shippensburg wound up its campaign with six wins and a tie.

West Chester, despite its record, finished only third in the State Teachers College Conference. Shippensburg and Lock Haven shared the crown on the basis of a system which allots points on the basis of the strength of conference opposition.

Thirty of the state's 51 active college teams completed their seasons last weekend. Only two, Dickinson and Cheyney, failed to win a game this season.

Rec Cage Leagues Need More Teams

Unless more teams indicate immediate interest, the Community and Church Basketball Leagues may be dropped from the winter program of the Recreation Association.

Only three teams reported at the rec office Monday evening to signify their intentions of joining the Community League. None showed up for the proposed Church League.

Johnny Toggas, acting Recreation director, will be at his office in the high school building this evening from 7 to 8 to again receive applications.

GOOD FISHING AREAS SOUGHT ON BIG RIVERS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Initial steps are being taken to locate good fishing areas along major rivers of the commonwealth. Executive Director William Voight of the State Fish Commission reported yesterday.

The initial steps involve plotting general locations, he said.

"Later steps will include locating owners, establishing fair prices, fixing boundaries and negotiating for purchase or lease," he added.

The work is part of an expanded program authorized by the commission and financed by the new increase in fishing licenses — from $2.50 a year to $3.25.

The commission said two other lakes at undisclosed locations are planned in addition to the 91-acre Dutch Fork Lake now under construction in Washington County.

The 135-acre Beaver Meadow Lake it owns in Wayne County will be doubled in size, the commission said, and opened to public fishing. It now serves as a water supply and a natural warm water hatchery.

Twenty access areas in 20 counties also are planned for improvement.

The commission said it would undertake additional activities as available unallocated funds allow. Among these possible activities are employment of officers during the boating season to patrol Pymatuning, Wallenpaupack, Conneaut and Harveys Lake. These officers would be equipped with boats and motors and would free regular wardens for other duties in their districts.

GAVILAN AND BYARS TONIGHT

CHICAGO (AP) — Gerardo Gonzalez Gavilan, better known as the Cuban Kid, the former welterweight champion, meets Walt Byars tonight in a 10-round bout at Chicago Stadium.

Kid Gavilan, 31-years old and a veteran of 138 matches, hopes to use Byars as a stepping stone towards regaining the title he once cherished.

The bout tonight will be nationally televised (ABC-10 p.m. EST). Gavilan is out to avenge what he calls a "home town decision" which he lost to Byars in Boston last December. The Kid has lost four of five bouts this year and his nine-year record is now 105-28-5.

Byars, a 25-year old left hooker, has a 16-5-1 record but has slipped of late. He defeated Sugar Hart last March but has since lost to Tony DeMarco, Virgil Akins and Isaac Logart.

An ex-Marine, who started his fighting career in Korea in 1953, Byars is a stocky fellow. He is 5 feet 5 and will be giving away about six inches in height to Gavilan. Both will weigh close to 150 pounds.

MICHIGAN AND IOWA PICKED TO WIN SATURDAY

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Zupke, famed Illinois gridiron coach of yesterday, once said the three college sports involving physical contact were football, wrestling and dancing. So off to the junior prom, Algernon, after picking this week's winners:

Michigan State over Kansas State: The door to the Big Ten throne room is locked with Ohio State safely inside. The disappointed Spartans to take it out on lowly Kansas State.

Auburn over Florida State: The odds are against State even getting a score.

Irish To Lose
Michigan over Ohio State: Strictly on a hunch. The Ohioans want a trip to the Rose Bowl Saturday and a defeat won't cost them the Big Ten title.

Iowa over Notre Dame: Randy Duncan's passing to bring the Hawkeyes a cherished triumph over Notre Dame — by more than a touchdown.

Oklahoma over Nebraska: The Sooners start a new winning streak.
Duke over North Carolina: A regular jim-dandy of a brawl with Duke's big size to be the determining factor.

Favors Tennessee
Tennessee over Kentucky: The clawless can't score, so how can they win?

Texas Christian over Rice: No reason for this choice. But there's no reason in that topsy-turvy Southwest Conference race either.

Oregon State over Oregon: State will find a way to shackle fullback Jack Morris.

WITNESS SAYS HE PAID CASH IN FRAUD CASE

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Commonwealth hopes to complete its case today against eight men accused of conspiring to defraud the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission of half a million dollars.

Testimony in the trial, being heard by a Dauphin County jury of six men and six women, began only yesterday.

A 49-year-old former Wall Street broker and onetime coal mine operator was the principal prosecution witness. He testified he participated in what the state maintains was a conspiracy to cheat the commission by charging for filling material ostensibly used to stabilize part of the northeast extension of the turnpike but never actually delivered.

George Oswald, a former top-level employee of Rogers Brothers Construction Co., Scranton, said he paid "hush" money to persons he said were engaged in the alleged plot.

Eight men pleaded innocent to the conspiracy charges, four pleaded guilty and a 13th was granted a trial postponement because of illness. Oswald pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence.

He testified that "payoffs" were made weekly to employees of Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading, to accept "doctored" weight slips which recorded receipt of thousands of tons of silt never delivered.

The state charged that a contract between the commission and Manu-Mine formed the basis of a conspiracy to defraud the commission of 1 1/2 million dollars. Five men, including two former commissioners, were convicted at that trial held last summer.

"My boss told me one day in November of 1955 that the job was getting to look bad," Oswald told the jury of six men and six women.

He said his "boss" reference was to Walter G. Ketas, Clarks Summit, general manager of the Rogers firm.

Oswald said he told Ketas and Joseph Rogers, Scranton, partner in the firm, that the "tonnage was shipping—the holes won't fill."

"Well, can't you do anything with those inspectors of Manu-Mine?" Oswald quoted Ketas as replying.

"My boss (Ketas) wanted to know if we could get some extra slips and what it would cost us," he added.

Both Ketas and Rogers are among those defendants on trial on conspiracy charges. They pleaded innocent.

Oswald said that, with the approval of Ketas, he arranged to pay inspectors of Manu-Mine between $50 and $100 a week to accept doctored weight slips.

He testified that for four months, truck drivers merely "played ring around the rosey with their loads of silt by just driving it around in circles in their trucks and never dumping it anywhere but getting it charged against the commission as delivered."

No S.P. Champ?

If the South Penn Scholastic Conference sticks to a league agreement made at a special meeting several weeks ago, there will be no football champion this year. However, it is expected there will be protests lodged which may alter the situation.

The no-championship situation hinges on the cancellation of the Gettysburg-Hershey game here Tuesday. At the special meeting, called to discuss the postponements brought on by the flu epidemic, it was agreed that any further cancellations would erase the establishment of a 1957 champion.

Hanover and Carlisle have both defeated Hershey and Gettysburg which means the outcome of that game would have no bearing on the final standing.

Robert Beard, Chambersburg, president of the league, said he expected to receive protests from Hanover and Carlisle, the only schools in the title picture. He indicated another special meeting may be held or that a telephone poll may be taken on rescinding the previous ruling.

AWARD LETTERS TO GHS GRID SQUAD TODAY

Fifteen Gettysburg High School football players, plus the Senior student manager, were awarded letters for the recently completed season by Coach Ben Jones during the assembly program at the high school this afternoon.

Loss Four Starters
Little, Baltzley, MacKenzie and Keefe were regular starters during the campaign while Shields was the first line replacement for Skidmore at center.

The program opened with devotions led by Marilyn Culp, John Crow, representing of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, presented Little and Coldsmith with the weekly certificates for their outstanding backfield and line performances, respectively, against Hanover last week.

Jones expressed his appreciation to the student body, cheerleaders, band, school administration and the squad for their support and cooperation during the season and then presented the letters.

A film of the University of Maryland-North Carolina football game concluded the program.

Taneytown

TANEYTOWN — The Church School Executive Board of Emmanuel (Baust) United Church of Christ met Monday evening at 8 p.m. in the parsonage. Plans were made and committee chairmen appointed for each service which had been approved by the consistory. November 20, Christian Family Service, Mrs. Reifsnider and Mrs. Russell Bloom in charge; December 8, "Hanging of the Greens" service in charge of the Women's Guild in cooperation with the church school, Mrs. Allen Morelock, chairman; December 15, "Hanging of the Greens" service in cooperation with the Lutheran Church, Rev. Miles Reifsnider, chairman; December 20, Consistory and Aid Society Christmas party, Mrs. Miles Reifsnider, chairman; December 22, Church School Christmas service, in charge of Mrs. Ralph Koons; December 24, Christmas Communion service, in charge of Mrs. Charles Roop.

The annual Thanksgiving turkey dinner will be served in the parish house on November 28 at 11 a.m. Rev. M. S. Reifsnider attended the board meeting of Camp Michaux, Monday, of which he is a member. The Ki-Wives met November 14 at 8 p.m. at the home of the president, Mrs. George Harner.

Mrs. Ethel Garber was elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Taneytown Fire Company at a meeting held recently in the social room of the Firemen's building. Other officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. Carrie Weishaar; secretary, Mrs. Bessie Dougherty; recording secretary, Mrs. Hazel Lambert; treasurer, Mrs. Naomi Dodder; chaplain, Mrs. Gladys Null; color bearers, Miss Emma Reifsnider and Mrs. Grace Putnam; historian, Mrs. Janet Parrish. The auxiliary will hold a Christmas party at the December meeting when each member is asked to bring a $1 gift. It was decided to give $25 to the retarded children campaign and $25 to the firemen's hospital fund. The committee for the December meeting includes: Mrs. Ethel Garber, Mrs. Carrie Weishaar, Mrs. Catherine Baker, Mrs. Ethel Harmon, Mrs. Naomi Dodder, Mrs. Catherine Clingan and Mrs. Bessie Dougherty.

BERNIE PARRISH SELECTED AS BACK OF WEEK

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The college back who got the biggest headlines last Saturday was Notre Dame's Dick Lynch—the boy who beat Oklahoma. But after consideration of an unusual number of fine individual feats, Florida's Bernie Parrish was selected today as Back of the Week.

Parrish's all-around performance overshadowed Lynch's touchdown run that stopped Oklahoma's winning streak at 47. It drew the strongest recommendations from sports writers and broadcasters participating in the Associated Press poll. Parrish did everything himself to give Florida a 14-7 victory over a strong Vanderbilt team.

The Florida junior right halfback scored both touchdowns on runs of 45 and 22 yards. He kicked both conversions. He made seven tackles, one of which stopped Vandy short of a tying touchdown as the half ended. He intercepted one pass and batted down Vanderbilt's final scoring effort in the end zone. Then he carried the ball out of the danger zone with a 17-yard end run that topped off a performance that netted 111 yards on 11 carries.

Pushing Parrish hard for Back of the Week honors were Don Meredith, Southern Methodist sophomore quarterback; Jack Morris, Oregon fullback; and Joe Francis, Oregon state tailback.

"OPEN HOUSE" AT EAST BERLIN

Open house will be held Sunday at East Berlin's sewerage treatment plant on Water street from 1 until 4:30 p.m.

The system and treatment plant cost a total of $275,042 and will serve about 270 homes in the borough when all buildings are connected.

A council spokesman said yesterday that extension of the lines into a new housing development in the borough will not be done until additional homes are erected. He said only a few homes have been constructed in the section and that extension of the lines would be too expensive at this time.

The project was handled by East Berlin Municipal Authority created on Nov. 16, 1955, by the borough council, as part of its program of civic improvement. Plans also call for constructing new curbing, sidewalks and streets.

Cost of connection from the main to the house is $65. The starting rate is $12.50 per quarter for use of up to 5,000 gallons. The revenue bond issue in the amount of $270,000 was sold to the firm of Butcher and Sherrerd, Philadelphia.

Residents started to use the system in the spring. New connections are made to the street mains as plumbers finish installations of bath rooms and other facilities.

Court Appoints 2 School Directors

Richard Alwine and P. Lawrence Hoover have been named by the Adams County court for six-year terms as school directors in Coneyago Independent School District.

Terms of the two men expire the first Monday in December, and the court appointments for new terms came following petitions from the residents of the independent district. When the district was set up provisions were made that selection of school directors would be by court appointment.

The court appointed Attorney Richard A. Brown as master in the divorce action of Robert N. Helm against Catherine C. (Weaver) Helm.

Two new trespass actions have been stated, with only the summons filed so far. The one is by Earl and Sadie Burke against Shirley B. Nissen, with the law firm of Brown, Swope and MacPhail representing the Burkes. The other is a suit by Albert Shultz against Kenneth E. Baker, with Attorney Donald Oyer representing Shultz. Complaints have not yet been filed.

TIGERS AND A'S REVEAL TRADE OF 13 PLAYERS

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A 13-player trade between the Detroit Tigers and the Kansas City Athletics, with outfielder Bill Tuttle of the Tigers and infielder Billy Martin of the A's as key figures, was announced today.

Going from the Athletics in the trade, beside Martin, are pitchers Tom Morgan and Mickey McDermott, outfielders Gus Zernial and Lou Skizas and Catcher Tim Thompson.

For these they will receive, besides Tuttle, outfielder Jim Small, pitchers Duane Maas and John Taitouris, catcher Frank House, and two players to be selected later.

Plan More Deals

The announcements were made here and at Detroit.

The deal was completed last night between Arnold Johnson, president of the Kansas City club, and John McHale, general manager of the Detroit club.

The two players to be named later will come out of the Detroit farm system, and the Athletics will get their choice. Johnson said the wholesale exchange was the forerunner of later deals he hoped to make to boost the ailing club out of its low second division position.

He said the trade had the full approval of Harry Craft, the A's manager.

"Manager Craft was in on this from the start," Johnson said. "Both he and I agreed it was a good one for us in that it strengthens us in our two weakest departments, outfield and catching."

Will Draw Lots To Break Three Ties

The Adams County commissioners, sitting as the county election board, Thursday at noon will conduct drawings to break three ties for offices.

The ties resulted from the recent election and at noon Thursday at the courthouse the winning candidate will be selected by the drawing of lots. The candidates may appear to make the drawing for themselves. If they do not appear, clerks will conduct the drawing.

The ties are for inspector of election in Huntington No. 2 between Marion M. Murfitt and Harry L. Tate; school director in Liberty Twp. between Joseph P. Timlin and Emory A. Flohr and inspector of elections in McSherrystown, Second Ward, between Margaret Topper and either Julia Roth or Julius Roth. Clerks were unable to decipher the written in ballot for Roth and said they were unable to find any such name in the registration lists.

Two new trespass actions have been stated, with only the summons filed so far. The one is by Earl and Sadie Burke against Shirley B. Nissen, with the law firm of Brown, Swope and MacPhail representing the Burkes. The other is a suit by Albert Shultz against Kenneth E. Baker, with Attorney Donald Oyer representing Shultz. Urges At Least Million For State Technical Scholarships HARRISBURG (AP)—Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, Tuesday urged a minimum appropriation of one million dollars by the 1959 Legislature for technical scholarships.

Johnson, reversing the position he took in the 1957 session, spoke out for state scholarships as a year "in the limited sphere of rocket, missiles and satellite study."

"This is where we must increase our educational efforts in line with President Eisenhower's call for an expanded program," Johnson told reporters.

"Welfare State Proposal"
Gov. Leader late in the 1957 session submitted to the Assembly a program for higher education including state scholarships, student loans and establishment of community junior colleges across the state. The Republican-controlled Legislature referred the program to the Joint State Government Commission, its continuing research agency. Johnson at that time said the program amounted to "a welfare state proposal."

"I changed my thinking on this because we are living in a dynamic age," Johnson told reporters after the commission decided to set up a group of task forces to make a broad study of education. The commission, composed of members of the legislature, decided to survey nine subjects, including the problem of education beyond high school. But no specific action was taken on Johnson's recommendation for state scholarships.

However, Chairman Baker Royer (R-Lancaster) did not rule out the possibility.

"If scholarships come up for discussion," he told a newsman, it would be by the post-high school education task force."

The commission's executive committee ordered these other task forces appointed by Speaker W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong) and Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Senate president pro tempore:

School subsidies; standards and specifications for non-highways structures and equipment; codification of state and school employees' retirement statutes; Commonwealth obligations in payment of occupational disease benefits; codification of motor vehicle and tractor codes; review of inheritance tax and charitable trust laws; water and air pollution and highway safety, with particular attention to compulsory insurance as a factor bearing upon highway safety.

LAOS COALITION GOVERNMENT TO HAVE COMMIES

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian Parliament has unanimously approved Premier Souvanna Phouma's new coalition government which includes Communist-Pathet Lao rebels.

Souvanna Phouma presented the 16-man coalition Cabinet to Parliament earlier Tuesday. The approval by Parliament was a blow to the West.

Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao and half-brother of the Premier, was slated to be minister of reconstruction and town planning. Another rebel, Phoumi Vongvichit, was chosen

ANDREWS BACKS ROY E. FURMAN FOR GOVERNOR

HARRISBURG (AP)—Rep. H. G. Andrews, House Democratic assistant floor leader, has endorsed Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman for the Democratic nomination for governor.

At the same time, he came out for Gov. Leader for U.S. senator, Cong. William J. Green, Philadelphia, for lieutenant governor and Sen. John H. Dent, Senate Democratic floor leader, for secretary of internal affairs.

"Just as I believe that Leader can carry forth and get the Democratic nomination for the Senate, whether or not certain people do not like him," he said, "so I believe Roy Furman, irrespective of those who oppose him, could go out and get the nomination in a battle."

Opposed By Leader
The 81-year-old former House speaker said he spoke for himself in discussing the possible Democratic state.

Leader has been mentioned as opposing Furman's efforts to run for governor. He is known to favor Mayor Richardson Dilworth, of Philadelphia, for party endorsement.

for the Ministry of Culture.

Thousands of persons surrounded and packed the Parliament building for the first appearance of the Pathet Lao leaders.

Surrender Rebel Troops
Souphanouvong formally surrendered the rebel troops, arms and administrators in ceremonies on Monday at the royal palace.

Crown Prince Savang Vatthana accepted the transfer in the name of King Sisavang Vong, who is ill. "Starting today the Laotian Patriotic Front will openly and legally carry out its activities," Souphanouvong said.

Phouma agreed to bring the leaders into the government if they would give up their 6,000 troops and surrender the provinces of Phong Saly and Sam Neua.

"By all means, our foreign and internal policies will not be changed with the coming of a new government including the Pathet Lao," the Premier said as Parliament assembled.

But the United States, Britain and France are concerned about the rebels' entry into the government. They fear it will be a step toward future subversion.

Missile Program Probers To Be Guided By Facts: Johnson

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said today the facts—and not any political considerations—will determine the course of a senatorial inquiry into the nation's missile program.

The Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee will begin a series of hearings next week in an atmosphere charged by efforts of some Republican and Democratic leaders to fix on the opposing party the blame for lagging missile and satellite production.

Former President Truman has charged that the Eisenhower administration permitted a unified missile program he had instituted to disintegrate. Republican National Chairman Meade ALCORN has accused Democrats in Congress of voting to cut missile expenditures.

Depends On Facts
Johnson, who heads the Preparedness subcommittee, made it clear in a telephone interview from his home in Johnson City, Tex., he does not believe the committee will be swayed by the political debate touched off with the Russian Sputnik launchings.

"The committee has operated under Democratic presidents and Republican presidents and we have always called things as we saw them," Johnson said. "Sen. Bridges (R-NH) was one of the first to demand the kind of an investigation we are undertaking." Bridges is senior Republican on the committee.

Miss Genevieve Blatt, current secretary of internal affairs, is a likely candidate to seek re-election. In proposing Dent for this job, Andrews said he felt Miss Blatt should be given consideration for appointment to the Cabinet in the next administration.

Emmitsburg SLOGAN POSTER CONTEST OPENS AT ST. JOSEPH'S

Students of French in high schools are invited to participate in the annual slogan-poster contest sponsored by Saint Joseph College (Emmitsburg) Omega Chapter of Pi Delta Phi, national French honor society.

Under the direction of Sister Margaret, D.U., associate professor of French at the college, with the assistance of Miss Rosemarie Braun, Lincroft, N. J., chairman, the contest has for its theme L'Art de Vivre, an Ideal des Français. Its purpose is to spread French culture among high school students.

In keeping with the theme and aim of the contest, the participants will compose an original slogan expressing their idea of the theme, and make a poster illustrating that slogan, due January 20, 1958.

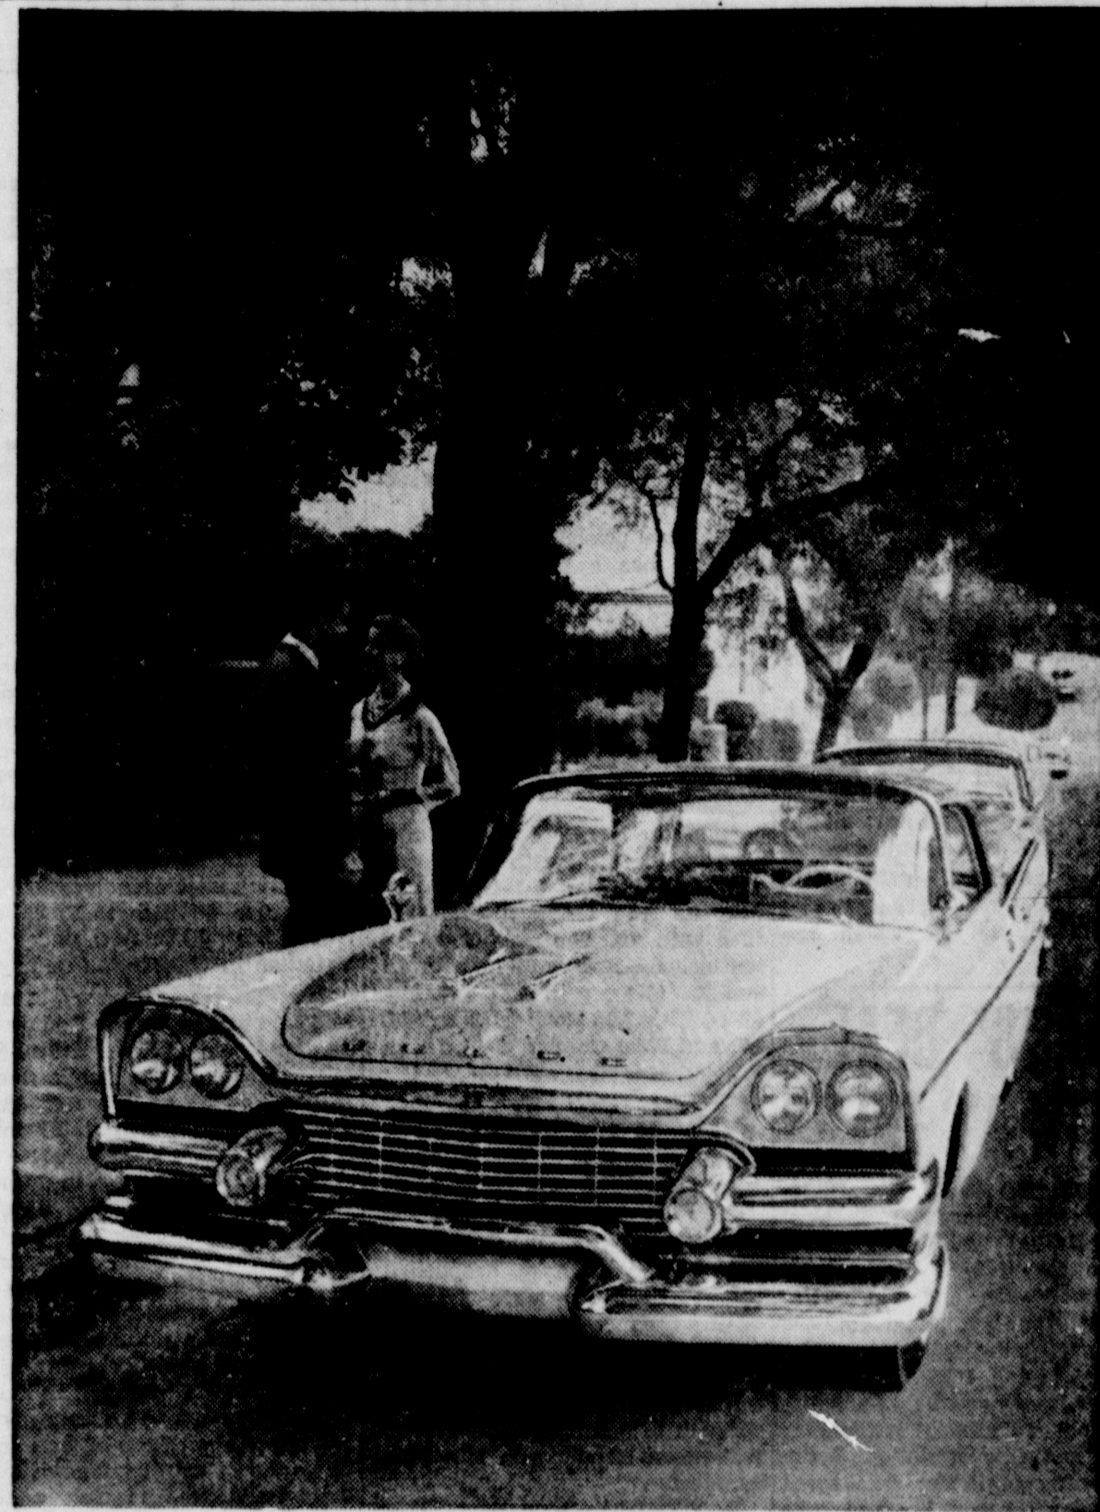

Award Cash Prizes

The following cash prizes will be awarded to the winning entries: $25, $15, and $10 to the first, second, and third place winners respectively; a bronze medal of Notre Dame de Paris, donated by the Consulate de France in Washington; five sets of Les Maitres de la Littérature by Emile Henriot, donated by the French Book Guild of New York; two one-year subscriptions to Pensee

Francaise; and other awards donated by Air France, Ambassade de France in New York, and the French Government Tourist office in New York.

Judges who will choose the winning slogans according to their conformity to the aim of the contest and the posters for their aptness in conveying the theme are Howard L. Chase, Alpha Eta chapter, Miami University; Sister M. Gregoire, Alpha Tau, Rosary College; Robert E. Hallowell, Epsilon, University of Illinois; and Suzanne Van den Broeck, Alpha Alpha, Barat College of the Sacred Heart.

Master Boing, French-bred winner of the 1957 International race at Laurel, is owned by Nelson B. Hunt of Dallas. He is trained by Preston Burch.

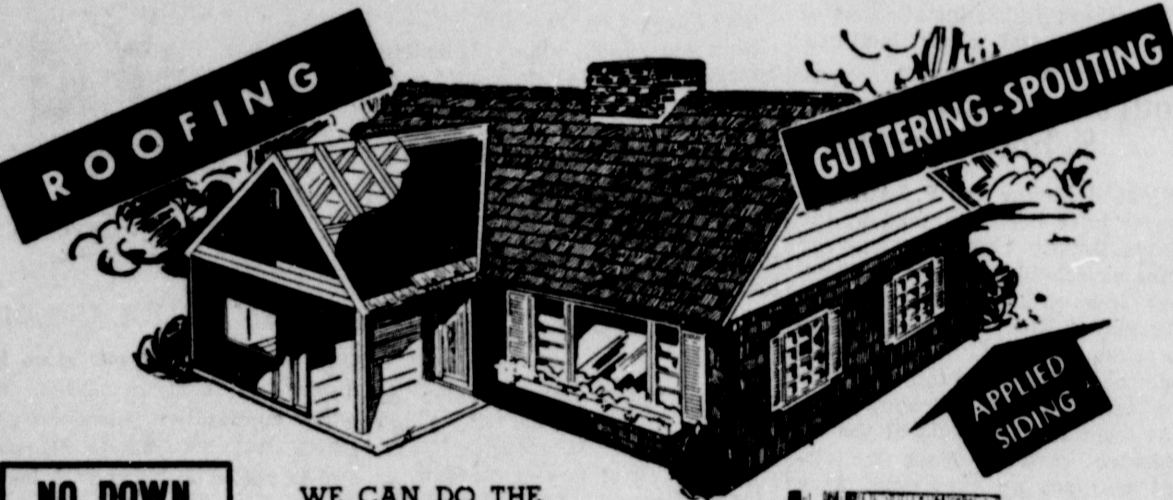

TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE is the way we Dodge dealers feel about competitors' efforts to match the Swept-Wing 58. They lowered the roof some, but left the sides high. Their windshields got smaller while ours got bigger. So much for styling. Then, for another important comparison, take ride. Here's Dodge with Torsion-Aire suspension that just about everybody admits is the greatest advance in sway-free, dip-free, silent going that any car offers. So what do these other cars do? They borrow an air suspension system that's been used in buses for two years! (Costing well over $100.00 extra.) And most of 'em still don't have push-button driving—much less Dodge TorqueFlite—the proven automatic transmission. If you're a little disappointed in the '58 version of your car, come on in and see our Swept-Wing 58. The others are catching on—but they can't catch up.

Says USAF Knew Months Ago Of Russian Satellite Plans But Never Warned American Public

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The top congressional investigator of government secrecy said today the Air Force got information of Russian satellite launching plans months ahead of time but "the American people were never forewarned."

Rep. Moss (D-Calif.) also said Robert Cutler, President Eisenhower's adviser on national security affairs, imposed a "blueprint of secrecy" on America's "missile-satellite deficiencies until Sputnik sailed across the skies."

Moss, chairman of a House subcommittee which rides herd on federal information practices, referred at one point to what he called "public-be-damned information policies" and said they must be eliminated.

Views Challenged

Moss' views were sharply challenged by the Pentagon's information chief, Asst. Secretary of Defense Murray Snyder, who said the congressman "apparently subscribes to the myth that, for some reason, your defense officials spend all their spare time knitting paper curtains of secrecy around the facts of our military activities."

Both Moss and Snyder made their comments in speeches prepared for the annual convention of the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., which continues through Saturday.

For two days this week, Snyder was a witness before the Moss subcommittee at Washington hearings in its continuing study of government information practices.

Appeals To Editors

Moss said the fight for the public's right to know must be unrelenting, as new threats arise continually. He appealed to the editors to help lift what he termed "the smog of secrecy."

Discussing the advance word on Russia's satellite plans, Moss told the editors his subcommittee has learned that on June 21, a private corporation gave the Air Force an analysis of dozens of freely distributed Russian technical publications adding up to a report that the Soviets planned to send up a satellite as early as Sept. 17.

Snyder said that Moss "has not been negligent in his efforts to collect ammunition" and that his subcommittee has engaged in "much advertising of alleged shortcomings" in the Pentagon information policies.

No Withholding

Despite this effort, Snyder said, the subcommittee had "failed to produce a single instance of illegal withholding of news or withholding of information for the purpose of concealing error, inefficiency or embarrassment" during Snyder's eight months in the top information post at the Defense Department.

Moss said his subcommittee is beginning to document for the first time that what he called a "highly hush-hush agency within the White House" apparently is calling signals on what the American public will be told in the scientific competition with Russia.

He identified the agency as the Operations Coordinating Board, the operating arm of the National Security Council. The OCB, he said, is headed by Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter. The vice chairman, he said, is Cutler, who "takes a dim view of the public's right to know."

U. S., BRITISH TO TALK TO FRANCE ABOUT ALGERIA

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
LONDON (AP)—American and British leaders have decided to seek early heart-to-heart talks with France over the future of rebel-torn Algeria, informed allies diplomats reported today.

Top officials in both Britain and America feel such talks are needed urgently because:

The Soviet Union is believed preparing a new drive to extend its political and economic influence in Africa and the Middle East.

Crisis For French

The load of the Algerian campaign has brought French government finances to the crisis point, and any collapse might open the way for an extreme right-wing, or a "popular front" left-wing, government.

The U.S. and British governments are having nightmares of what might happen to the Atlantic Alliance if the North African situation is allowed to deteriorate further.

The installation in France of an extremist government, right or left, could spell the crackup of the Allied defense system in its present form.

Must Face Facts

American and British higher-ups accordingly were said to believe that they must make a determined attempt very soon to get the French to face the facts in Algeria.

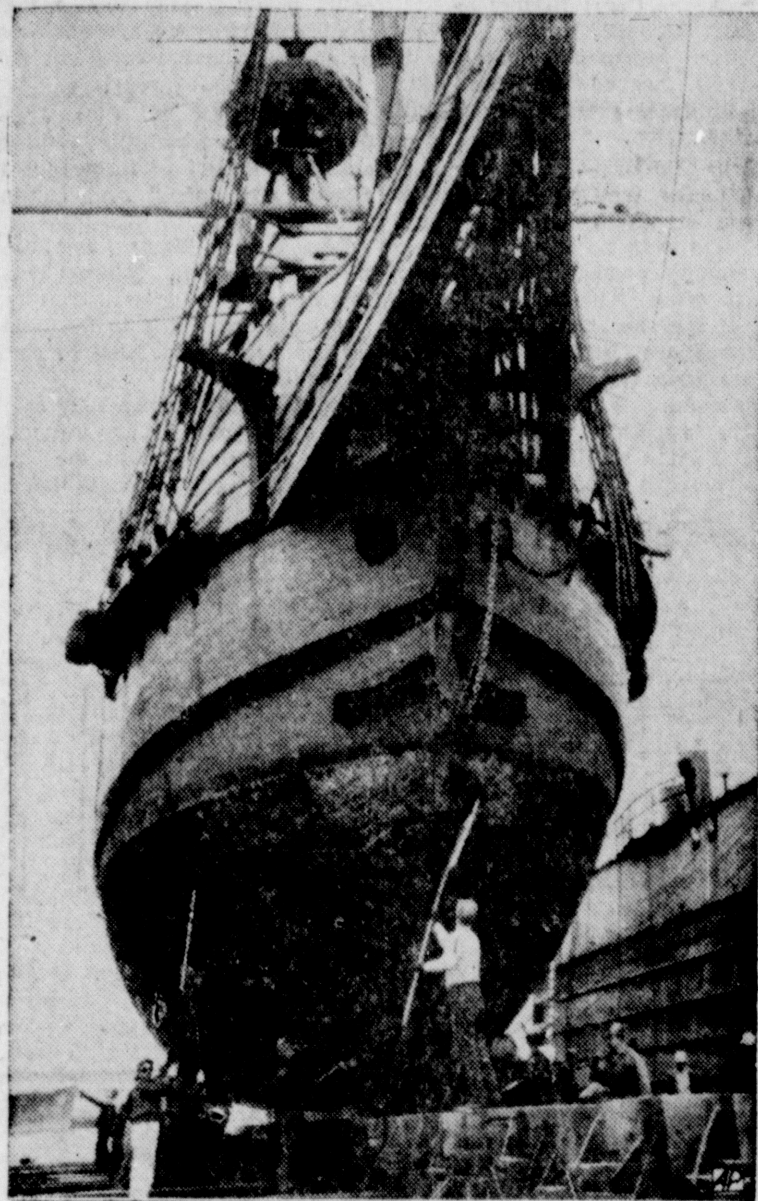

But the United States and Britain believe there is a chance to edge toward a general settlement and pacification of Algeria with the aid of moderate local leaders.

The squabble over arms for Tunisia could provide a starting point. Diplomats explain that by supporting Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba in a small way, the United States and Britain can claim to have underlined the Western interest in his country. This may serve to strengthen his wish to help—along with the ruler of Morocco—in the search for Algerian moderates with whom the French could negotiate a settlement.

inter-Allied talks with some practical proposals which the West generally could support, they might serve to break the Algerian deadlock.

Informants said Washington and London at the same time believe it might be possible to build up a new, largely Arab regional political and defensive grouping in the west Mediterranean that could be linked with NATO. Such a group would include Algeria, Morocco, Tunisia, Spain and Libya.

8 COMMUNITIES GET LOANS FOR NEW INDUSTRIES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Tentative approval of community industrial development loans totaling $673,533 was announced yesterday by the State Industrial Development Authority.

The communities involved are Wellsboro, Williamsport, Lehighton, Wilkes-Barre, Corry, Sunbury, Meadville and Lewistown.

The loans would be used to help finance construction of facilities totaling $2,241,110, providing factory jobs for an estimated 1,286 persons on expected annual payrolls of $4,800,000.

The projects include: Lehighton — A $675,000 second mortgage loan to Lehighton Industrial Development Authority for purchase of a 5,248 sq. ft. building at a cost of $22,500. The building will be occupied by Lu-Rae Fashions, Lehighton dress manufacturer, for an expanded operation. A first mortgage loan of $11,250 will be carried by Hazleton National Bank. An estimated 20 new jobs will be created, along with a new annual payroll estimated at $50,000.

To Buy Plant Corry — A $120,000 second mortgage loan, at 2 per cent, to the Corry Chamber of Commerce for purchase of the 189,240 sq. ft. Aero Supply plant at a cost of $400,000. The building will be occupied by a branch plant of a Kansas City, Kan., firm producing aircraft fuels controls, hydraulic units and sub-assemblies. A first mortgage loan of $200,000 is being carried by three Pennsylvania banks. The new industry will employ approximately 300 people with an annual payroll estimated at $1,400,000.

Sunbury (Herdman) — A $105,000 second mortgage loan, at 2 per cent, to Sunbury New Enterprise Expansion Drive, Inc. for construction of a 5,000 sq. ft. building at a cost of $35,000. The building will be used for the expansion of an existing Herndon firm, America Novelty Works, which is engaged in manufacture of toys, housewares and tool and instrument cases. A first mortgage loan of $10,000 is to be carried by the Herndon National Bank. An estimated 25 new jobs will be created, along with an annual payroll increase estimated at $62,500.

Other Projects Lewistown — A second mortgage loan of $16,800, at 2 per cent, to Lewistown Industrial Development Corp. for purchase of an existing factory building at a cost of $56,000. The building will be occupied by a New York shoe manufacturing firm. A first mortgage of $28,000 will be carried by Russell National Bank of Lewistown, First National Bank of Lewistown and the Lewistown Trust Co. An estimated 85 jobs will be created, along with an annual payroll estimated at $210,000.

Williamsport — A $120,000 second mortgage loan, at 5 per cent, to industrial properties corporation for construction of a 40,000 sq. ft. building at a cost of $400,000. The building will be occupied by oiler Stampings, Inc., a Long Island, New York, firm manufacturing metal products. A first mortgage loan of $200,000 will be carried by West Branch Bank and Trust Co. of Williamsport, the Williamsport National Bank, the Bank of Newberry, First National Bank of Williamsport, First National

Santa Claus To Be In Carlisle

Santa Claus will arrive in Carlisle on Saturday to open the Christmas shopping season. "He will be flown there from the North Pole through the courtesy of the Civil Air Patrol and will land at the Carlisle Fairgrounds at 9 a.m." From there he will join the annual Christmas parade and will be escorted to the square where he will set up his headquarters to greet all the boys and girls until Christmas eve.

The public is invited to be at the fairgrounds to greet Old Saint Nick on his arrival.

STORMS CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS High winds accompanied by torrential rains inflicted considerable damage through central Pennsylvania yesterday.

The worst hit areas appeared to be Pottsville in Schuylkill County and Lebanon and Palmyra in Lebanon County.

Winds of 70 miles an hour—near hurricane force—were reported in Lebanon County.

In Pottsville, a twister-like wind caused damage estimated at $80,000 to a drive-in theater and restaurant. Windows were smashed in a number of business places and several trees uprooted.

The storm left half of the borough of Palmyra, near Hershey, H without power for some four hours after nine utility poles were toppled like tenpins along U. S. 422. Classes at the elementary and high schools were dismissed for the afternoon because of the power failure.

In the Lebanon suburb of Pleasant Hill a two-story frame barn was lifted off its foundation and deposited 25 feet away on top of a seven-year-old car. A garage was reduced to rubble and an auxiliary kitchen wrenched loose from a house.

In both Lebanon County communities trees were blown over, chimneys shattered, windows broken and roofs ripped up.

Faubus Will Not Help Integration

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas says he will not order state police or National Guardsmen in Arkansas to guard anyone in school.

However, the governor said yesterday, Arkansas National Guardsmen will have to carry out federal integration enforcement orders or "they will be court-martialed at the drop of a hat."

Faubus told the Shreveport News Club the planned withdrawal of federal troops from Central High School at Little Rock was unfair to guardsmen who will be left with what he called the distasteful task of enforcement.

The army announced all regular Army troops would be withdrawn from the high school and integration orders would be handled entirely by federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen.

Pennsy Earnings Are Off 42 Per Cent

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania Railroad reported yesterday that earnings for the first 10 months of 1957 were 42 per cent below the same period last year.

These earnings were $21,291,731 or $1.62 a share for the period compared with net income of $36,655,498 or $2.78 a share last year. Gross revenue for the 10 month

Blustery Weather Causes 40 Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather appeared back to near normal today, cold in most areas and a little wet in a few sections. Skies were partly cloudy to fair in most of the country.

This was in marked contrast to the three days of tornadoes, rain, snow and windstorms and floods in the Midwest and Southern areas.

The blustery weather since the weekend was blamed for at least 40 deaths. Damage to property and crops was extensive in Southern sections hit by tornadoes and floods. The heavy snowfall in the Midwest paralyzed highway travel, closed schools and damaged unharvested crops.

The world's largest periscope, a 90-foot aluminum tube with intricate mirror and lens system, permits atomic workers to sit safely behind heavy shielding while watching tests of nuclear energy.

period went from $826,268,891 in 1956 to $339,433,412 this year.

But this was offset, the railroad said, by an increase in expenses of more than 28 million dollars.

KILLER SHOWS NO REMORSE IN LONG QUIZZING

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Ed Gein, 51-year-old bachelor, appeared to show no remorse, a state criminologist said last night, after more than five hours of questioning in connection with the slaying of a widow and the finding of 10 human skulls in his farm home.

Charles Wilson, head of the Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory, said he could not detect any remorse, "just a sort of detachment."

Gein, brought to Madison for interrogation in connection with the butchering of Mrs. Bernice Worden of Plainfield, Wis., faced further questioning today.

Recognize One Skull As Gein's grisly story was being investigated, Sheriff Herbert Wanserski of Portage County said he recognized one of the skulls found on Gein's farm near Plainfield as that of a long-missing woman.

Wanserski told newsmen that he did not believe Gein's story that he had taken the assortment of skulls and grisly human remains from cemeteries.

The sheriff said: "We have found the face and head of Mary Hogan among the objects in Gein's farm home." He said Mrs. Hogan was a 54-year-old Portage County divorcee who disappeared in December 1954 from the rural tavern she operated at Bancroft, about six miles from Gein's farm.

Admits Slaying Wanserski said he had taken part in the investigation since it started Saturday night after the discovery of Mrs. Worden's butchered body. Gein has admitted butchering the 58-year-old widow after dragging her bloody corpse from the hardware store she operated in Plainfield. He insisted, however, he did not remember actually killing Mrs. Worden.

Gein was equally emphatic in saying that he didn't know anything about Mrs. Hogan's disappearance.

Gein, a handyman and sometime baby sitter, has maintained that the skulls and other human relics found in his house had been looted from graves "while I was in a daze-like."

NO TRESPASSING

All persons are warned not to trespass on the premises of the undersigned with dog, gun or trap for the purpose of taking game in any manner or for fishing or any way injuring or destroying property. All persons violating the laws of the Commonwealth with regard to trespassing on land of the undersigned will be dealt with under the provision of the Act of June 24, 1939, P.L. 872, Section 854.

J. F. Yake, Jr., Attorney

They started out in 1945 at a terrible military disadvantage.
This country had the atomic bomb.
They didn't. If they pushed too hard, they could have been massacred.

This was an unhappy position for a nation bent on communizing the world. Until they were equal in strength to the United States, they were an unimpressive spectacle to their would-be victims.

Needed Time
They'd be arguing from weakness. What they needed was time to catch up with or surpass this country. They concentrated on doing just that.

Once they reached their goal,
then:
There didn't necessarily have to be a world war. Both sides then would know they could wipe themselves off the earth. In that kind of military standoff, the Russians, with their aggressive designs, had some advantage.

Blackmail, Intrigue, Propaganda
They could blackmail their neighbors, use intrigue, subversion, economic penetration, propaganda, everything in the book.

Their concentration of the military development—and apparently their confidence in reaching equality with the United States — explains as well as anything why they stalled and frustrated all attempts at disarmament.

PRODUCTION OF HELIUM GAS IS TO BE BOOSTED

By W. JOYNES MacFARLAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is planning a major expansion of its helium productive capacity to meet expanding needs in the missiles and other defense programs, it was learned today.

High-level planning also was reported under way to develop a comprehensive, long-range program aimed at future extraction of all possible helium from natural gas before it is used for fuel, with consequent waste forever of the helium content.

These developments were reported by Interior Department officials, who also said that recently printed designs of the Russian dog-carrying Sputnik showed that it contained a helium carrier. They said this may be an indication the Soviet Union is now producing helium in some quantity.

Want New Plant

The Bureau of Mines operates this government's four helium plants at Exell and Amarillo, Tex., Shiprock, N. M., and Otis, Kan. These produce virtually all the helium available to the free world.

The missiles program is a major user of helium. The inert, non-explosive gas is also used in atomic energy work, in titanium and zirconium production, in electronics and in testing of refrigeration and air conditioning systems.

The Interior Department reportedly plans to ask Congress next year for about 14 million dollars for a new helium production plant.

This contemplates a plant which would make possible production of about 240 million more cubic feet of helium annually.

Huge Amounts Wasted

Current production is at a rate of about 365 million cubic feet a year, with plants operating at top capacity.

Demand is expected to total 345 million cubic feet in the year ending next June 30, and to increase in the following year.

The proposed new plant would be located at some point where it could extract some of the estimated three billion cubic feet of helium that is annually being wasted in gas sold from fields in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas for use as fuel.

For security purposes, the new plant would not be located in close proximity to the existing plants.

U. S. BUILDING NUCLEAR SHIPS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will launch a nuclear-powered merchant ship in 1959.

A $20,908,744 contract for construction of the vessel was awarded yesterday to the New York Shipbuilding Corp. of Camden, N.J.

A joint announcement by the Maritime Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission said the atomic propulsion system would be supplied by Babcock & Wilcox Co. under a separate contract with AEC for another nine million dollars.

The ship, to be named the NS (for nuclear ship) Savannah, is to be 587 feet long, have a beam of 78 feet, a service speed of 20 knots and a deadweight tonnage of 10,190 tons, the announcement said.

Congress authorized construction of the vessel in July 1956 after President Eisenhower proposed the launching as a demonstration of U.S. determination to develop peaceful applications for atomic energy.

The announcement said the NS Savannah will be an ultramodern ship with facilities for visitors' tours and "will serve as a floating laboratory to study and experiment in the relationship of nuclear power to the requirements of commercial shipping."

TO BUILD RESERVOIR

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission yesterday authorized the Philadelphia Suburban Water Co. to build a five-million-gallon storage reservoir and operating center at the Sproul-Beatty roads intersection in Springfield Township, Delaware County.

Ralph (Tiger) Jones, Brooklyn middleweight, began boxing in the Police Athletic League.

Bobby Boyd, Chicago middleweight, formerly worked as a butcher and grocery clerk.

DEATHS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PORT CHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—William L. Kleitz, 63, president of the Guaranty Trust Co., one of New York City's largest banks, died yesterday. He started with the company as a bond clerk in 1919 and was elected president in 1929. He was born in Highland Falls, N. Y.

CHICAGO (AP)—John Rakilos, 80, a Greek immigrant who once owned a chain of 32 restaurants in Chicago and had a four-million-dollar fortune, died penniless yesterday. He went bankrupt during the depression of the 1930s.

When Josef Ressel, inventor of the marine propeller, died in 1857 he had a piece of paper clutched in his hand. It was a will assigning all rights to the marine propeller to his sons.
